The basics of Alchemy

Alchemy is one of the grandest among the different sciences. Many young men and women are learning hard in the world's different academies, to become a master of this art.

Of course every person has to start at the basics, learning the different elements, their reactions to other elements. Careless people can easily blow themselves up, or poison their loved ones, if they are not taking care during the experiments.

There are many different elements in the world, so in this chapter we only mention the very basic ones:

Cadium (Ca)
Vass (V)
Todeit (Td)
Trinit (T)
Azmuizit (Az)
Kallium (K)
Copium (Co)
Magnezit (M)
Uncium (U)
Ranion (R)
Larxit (La)

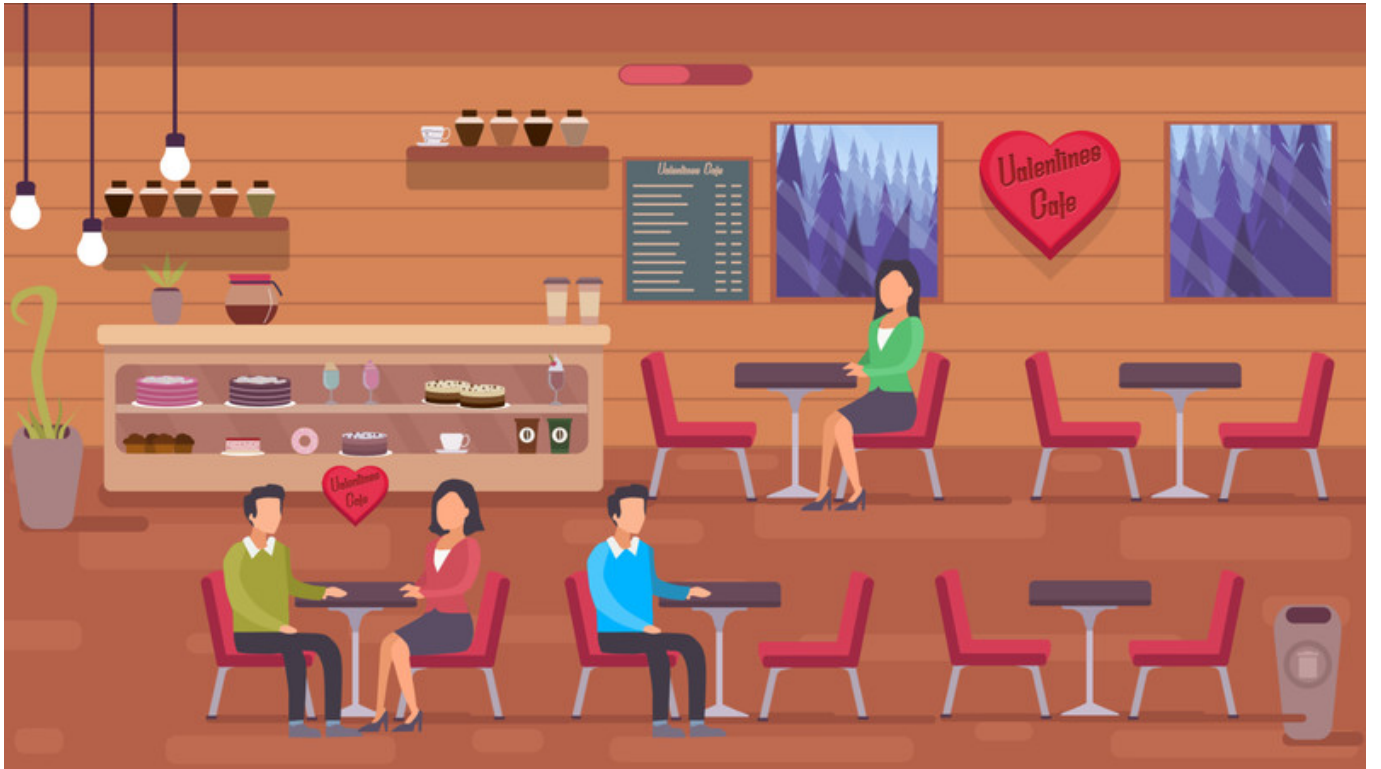

If an alchemist has these in distilled form, combining them, or making a reaction is pretty easy. You just pour them into each other, and pray that you don't start a chain reaction.
