I BELIEVE I CAN

My name is Emmanuel Titi. The memories of my life turn over are still fresh within me. I remember I was about nine years of age when I lost my parents, all was well until this great tragedy struck. My father used to provide for our family and all of my sisters and brother were in ~~the~~ school. All this changed after his death.

I remember my elder sister and brother being sent home since we could no longer afford to cater for school fees even though my aunt decided to be our guardian her earnings were not enough to cater for our school expenses. Every morning I used to watch my elder brother and sister work up and struggle to do their studies even with no lights just to try and get some where with their academics.

I on the other hand was still young and I was just starting primary school. I remember once I was sent home for a whole month since I could not pay for my school fees, I got so devastated that I thought that that was the end of my academics. Things got more tough as the days passed by to the point that my elder brother dropped out of school, he was still in secondary school, a day school that was not far from home. He got hired in one of the car repair shops so that he could help provide for my family.

I could see the pain that my brother went through at such a tender age. My elder sister also got dropped out of school at her last year in secondary
